Cruse triumphs

Winning is dream come true for mayor-elect

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH and DAVE WHALEY

In a decisive victory Tuesday, Von Dee Cruse, Granite City Township assessor, defeated incumbent Paul Schuler in the Granite City mayoral race. Other opponents were Mac Warfield, Granite City superintendent of streets, and Ed Jelf.

Cruse had a total of 1,449 votes. Warfield came in second with 1,196 votes; Schuler finished third with 1,185 votes and Jelf's total vote was 201.

CRUSE SAID the victory was a fulfillment of a lifelong dream. He said he was surprised, though, that he had won by such a sizeable margin.

"I thought it would be a cliff hanger," Cruse said. "After all, the incumbent (Schuler) had quite a few accomplishments in his 12 years as mayor and Mac Warfield has worked hard as superintendent of streets."

Cruse described his feelings throughout election day as being filled with anxiety.

"WHEN I WOKE up this morning, I thought I would win," Cruse said. "But then when I went to the polls, I saw a lot of cars with my opponents' signs on them and I felt depressed."

"Later that day I stood by the polls and I asked the people if they would consider casting a vote for me," Cruse said several of the people responded by giving him the V for victory sign. "By about 3 p.m., I started to feel better," he said.

Cruse said his mood shifted again, however, after the polls closed and some preliminary election results were reported.

"AFTER THE FIRST three precincts came in, I was about 40 votes behind and was feeling some anxiety," Cruse said. "But then a trend started to develop in my favor and it just kept on going."

Cruse said he wanted to thank all of his supporters and reaffirm his plans to help Granite City's growth and improvement.

"It's going to be a tough job. I've got a lot to do," Cruse said. "I can't do it all, though — people are going to have to make a commitment. "WE HAVE TO get people enthused and develop a sense of pride in our community. Then when people are asked to help, they will respond. If this happens, we can really make things happen."

In contrast to the jovial atmosphere at the Cruse headquarters, the mood was grim at Warfield's center. At about 11 p.m. Warfield made his concession speech, amid loud applause from his supporters. The candidate then headed to Cruse headquarters, where he congratulated the new mayor-elect.

Warfield said Wednesday that he was disappointed in the outcome of the race but was not disappointed in the effort his campaign workers had given.

"WE DID the best we could," Warfield said. "And we ran a clean campaign."

Warfield said he will make an effort to work with Cruse during the coming years as he continues in his (Continued on Page 5)

Bellicoff and ticket sweep to victory

By DONNA KIMBRO Staff writer

City Clerk John Bellicoff became mayor-elect of Madison and all candidates on his New Life Party ticket won Tuesday, defeating a city political group that had dominated Madison's municipal government for many decades. "I love Madison," he stressed in his election-night comments.

Bellicoff won with 1,451 votes to 878 received by Thomas Gordon, acting Madison mayor. Gordon had been serving in the office since the retirement several months ago of Mike Sasyk, mayor for the past 14 years.

GORDON TALKED to Bellicoff by telephone late Tuesday night and congratulated him on winning. The new city clerk will be William Weidner, who defeated Richard Harper 1,465 to 822. Frederick Bathon took the treasurer's post with 1,449 votes to 842 for incumbent Hilbert Hockstra.

Christ Costoff, veteran 2nd Ward alderman with 16 years' service, retained his office, 403 to 266 over James Riskovsky Sr.

HOSPITALIZED Monday for a stomach ailment, Costoff, according to his wife, Maxine, was resting comfortably Tuesday night.

Ida Dant, 3rd Ward alderman, lost to Don M. Wilson. Wilson received 350 votes to her 250.

James Hillner became 1st Ward alderman with a 298-273 victory over incumbent Andrew Economy. Charles Rockett was re-elected 4th Ward alderman, getting 291 votes to 163 for Lenora Lockett.

Although the victory margins varied, the sweep of all seven contested offices created jubilation among Bellicoff backers Tuesday night. They congratulated him on being able to begin his duties as mayor next month with many supportive associates in city offices. He is a former longtime Madison school board president.

WHEN THE FINAL tabulation was announced, Bellicoff left his headquarters for a victory party at the Croatian Home, where he was met with wild acclaim as he entered the hall.

Addressing the gathering, he remarked, "I don't know how to begin. You see what this cap fits me wearing," says, "I Love Madison, and I love all of you. All of our people in Madison love everyone and we'll go forward."

"I did not lie to you. I kept this (campaign) positive and what I want is positive. I said to keep cool and be positive, and it is positive. I love you people. You gave me and all my candidates the election."

"I DON'T KNOW what more I can say but thank you."

Gordon commented Wednesday morning, "I have no regrets and I have enjoyed working with the people as interim mayor. I had good people supporting me and we had a very clean campaign. It started out that way, and that is the way we finished."

"I will finish my time as acting mayor and afterward I plan to take a vacation and make plans for my future," the retired St. Louis area banker concluded.

Bellicoff is an officer of the First National Bank in Madison.

Miles, group win Chouteau town offices

By DONNA KIMBRO and SUSANNE INDELICATO

In another spate of election in the Quad-City area, the United Progress Party swept all Chouteau Township offices on Tuesday's ballot. In contrast, incumbent slates won in Nameoki and Venice townships.

Morris Miles defeated Walter "Dick" Sparks, veteran Chouteau supervisor, by a vote of 1,154 to 891. Sparks ran on the Honest, Dependable and Qualified ticket.

The Township Improvement Party in Nameoki captured all nine contested offices in that township, while in Venice Township the Good Government candidates were elected to all town offices.

SUPERVISORS re-elected included Christ Pashoff of Venice Township (Madison-Venice area) and Harry Briggs of Nameoki Township. Pashoff received 2,106 votes to defeat a write-in candidate, Nick Vasileff.

Briggs tallied 1491 votes to 1194 for Helen Hawkins.

In Chouteau, Patricia Polley retained her office of town clerk with

Echols re-elected

By VALERIE EVENDEN Staff writer

"Now I can smile," Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols said after learning at about midnight Tuesday that he had been returned to office by a 313-vote margin over his opponent, 4th Ward Alderman Victor Valentine Sr.

Venice voters turned out in force Tuesday, with an estimated 67 percent of the city's registered voters going to the polls.

IN THE MAYORAL RACE, Echols collected 896 votes to Valentine's 583.

"It was a heavy vote," 1st Precinct Committeeman Valeta Bauder said Wednesday. A record turnout also was reported by other committeemen.

Venice Precinct 1, whose voters gave Echols 297 votes to 129 cast for Valentine, was one of the last precinct printouts to come across the tables at the Granite City Township Building, where computer problems delayed the tabulating process close to an hour, starting at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday.

ECHOLS HEADED the successful Citizens Progressive Party slate of elected officials, all of whom were returned to office.

Among the winners was incumbent 4th Ward Alderman Charles Haynes Sr., who tallied 211 votes to narrowly defeat Henry Fletcher. The latter received 175.

"I'm certainly glad the election is over and we can get back to business. Now we can continue with the progress we've started with the industrial park and other projects," the mayor said.

"I think we have some pretty good irons in the fire for the future," he added.

"I GAVE IT MY best shot and the people got what they wanted," (Continued on Page 5)

New superintendent for GC School District

By DAVE WHALEY Staff writer

The Granite City School Board last night named Dr. Max Redmond as the new superintendent of schools. He is a newly retiring Supt. Frank Kraus on July 1.

Redmond, 47, comes from Hayti, Mo., a town with a population of 3,700 in the Missouri foothills, about 40 miles south of Sikeston.

Redmond will be starting June 1. He has agreed verbally to a one-year contract at $40,000, including pension. He will also receive $1,200 a year for gasoline allowance.

The vote for Redmond was 5-2, with Monroe Worthen and Alan Orider casting "no" votes.

Worthen said he would have a statement to make regarding his wife after speaking further with Redmond.

Redmond is currently in his second year as superintendent of the Pemiscot County Special School District, a district with an enrollment of 1,079 students.

He previously had been a superintendent of schools in Fort Madison, Iowa and Central City, Iowa.

He did his undergraduate work at Arkansas State University and received a Ph.D. at the University of Iowa.

The naming of Redmond completes a search for a new school chief which began last November.

In February, a search committee provided by the Illinois State Board of Education presented the district with six candidates from around the country.

Farm aid bill passes Senate

The Emergency Farm Credit Allocation Act — and the companion appropriation bill which would establish an operating loan program for farmers at substantially lower interest rates — passed the Illinois Senate last week. The farm aid initiative is sponsored by Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville.

Farmers would be provided with funds for seed, grain, and other operating costs at an interest rate between six and seven percent.

The senator said the $25 million appropriation would be used to pay half the interest on operating loans made by lenders to eligible farmers, in order to insure that only farmers needing assistance get assistance.

"The $25 million in interest savings will free-up $384 million in principal to be loaned to Illinois farmers for this spring's planting. A farmer would repay the state's portion of the interest over five years."

"Some farmers will be kept out of their fields this spring unless individual states can take temporary measures to provide emergency aid," Vadalabene explained.

"Farmers have had to face the combination of low commodity prices and high interest rates."

"The strong dollar has hurt farm exports sales and left our farmers with little cash for spring planting."

"The allocation act is unique in that it gives the farmer a definite advantage when applying for an operating loan," Vadalabene continued.

"The treasurer's program offers a rate of interest two to two and a half points below the current level."

Realtors announce art poster contest

Granite City school children from kindergarten to sixth grade are invited to enter an art poster contest to be sponsored by the Granite City Board of Realtors, according to Board President John Blasigame.

"The contest theme is 'The Great American Dream,'" Blasigame said. "Prizes will be awarded at three grade-level classifications," he added.

"Grades K-2, 3-4 and 5-6."

"There will be one winner in each grade-level classification and that winner will receive a $50 savings bonds. Rules have been announced in local schools and should be on the bulletin board. Entries must be postmarked on or before April 17. Winners will be announced on May 2.

This contest is in conjunction with Private Property Week, April 28-May 4. For further information, interested persons may call 677-1900.

Woman injured south of Venice

Glenda D. Williams, 25, of 121 Kerr St., Venice, was admitted at St. Elizabeth Medical Center with injuries suffered in a traffic accident at 1:30 a.m. Friday.

David L. Ehlers, 31, of Bunker Hill, reported driving a Metro-East Disposal truck south on Illinois Route 3, about 50 yards north of the Wiggins Highline, when the north-bound auto of Mrs. Williams approached.

The vehicles impacted head-on, reports noted. Mrs. Williams was taken by Campbell Ambulance to the hospital.

CANNABIS CHARGE FILED

James P. Porter, 17, of 2450 Benton St. was charged with possession of cannabis after police allegedly found five cigarettes in his possession. The arrest took place in the lobby of an apartment building at 1208 Niedringhaus Ave. at 3:35 p.m. Sunday. He was released on a notice to appear at a hearing.

COUNCIL CHAIRMEN. State Rep. Sam Wolf, right, Granite City Democrat, and State Sen. Jack Shaffer, Crystal Lake Republican, have been named as co-chairmen of the Illinois Legislative Council. ## Ventimiglia named executive editor

East Side Publications named Jack C. Ventimiglia, 29, executive editor April 3.

Ventimiglia was formerly managing editor for the publishing company, which includes the Granite City Press-Record, the Granite City Journal, the Granite City Press-Record/Journal Sunday, the Cahokia Journal, the Dupu Journal, and the East St. Louis News-Journal.

"I consider it an honor and a challenge to be selected for this position," Ventimiglia said. "The people can rest assured our newspapers will always present both sides of a controversy. Opinions do not belong in news stories. If our papers are compelled to take sides on an issue, it will always be in the form of a clearly labeled editorial."

The executive editor was formerly news coordinator with the Belleville Journal, the O'Fallon Journal and the County Journal.

He served as news editor with the Clinton County News, a (Rube) Yelvington Publications newspaper. He was feature editor with the Florissant Focus in Missouri.

Ventimiglia holds a master of arts degree in mass communication and a bachelor of science degree in mass communication from Central Missouri State University. While at CMSU, he was recipient of the Regents Scholarship and the Honors Scholarship, belonged to the Society of Professional Journalists, and was speaker of the student senate.

He holds associate in arts degrees in journalism and broadcasting from the St. Louis Community College at Florissant Valley, and was student senate president there. Ventimiglia presently teaches a feature writing class at the main campus, Belleville Area College.

This year he took second place for best business writing in the Suburban Newspapers of America contest, and received an honorable mention for community service in the Southern Illinois Editorial Association contest.

JACK VENTIMIGLIA

Ventimiglia is married to the former Patricia Flanagan. They have one child, Grace Anna, 8 months.

Schneider takes new post

Gary R. Schneider, editor of the Press-Record and executive editor of the Press-Record/Journal, announced Monday that he has accepted a copy editing position with the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Schneider will be on vacation until assuming his new duties at the Globe April 16.

He has been editor of the Press-Record since April 1982 and formerly was managing editor under the late editor, Harry Barnes. He was named executive editor of the combined Press-Record/Journal when it was created last month.

Schneider has been with the Press-Record nearly 15 years, having started in August 1970.

"It is with mixed feelings that I leave the Press-Record and my many fellow employees here. I look forward to the opportunities the Globe-Democrat offers, but will miss the daily contact with my friends in the Quad-City area," Schneider said.

Congratulations to new mayor

Congratulations, Von Dee Cruse. You were the people's choice in a field of fine candidates.

We once again assure you we will take no sides in news coverage of your term or that of any other office holder. Our reporters will simply hold up the mirror, letting the public see a fair and accurate picture of events as they occur.

Our belief is that a newspaper should present both sides of every story, and we will, if we feel compelled to take sides on any issue, we'll present our views only on the editorial page—clearly marked as our opinion.

Von Dee, you've made many campaign promises and, already, your community influence has resulted in the public voting to ask the council to repeal the telephone sales tax. We are sure you will exert yourself in getting the council to agree with the public on this issue.

Other promises you have made, and that the electorate shall be looking to see accomplished over the term of your office, are immediate work to improve the downtown area, establishment of a public works department, updating and enforcement of the city's building codes, establishment of a community development group that you will personally work with to draw new business to the city, establishment of a youth activity center, improvement of the city's sewer system before the Corps finishes its study, never raising taxes without a referendum, and holding public forums which will allow the people to comment on city affairs.

You have a good group of councilmen to work with, Von Dee, and we urge them to remember you are the people's choice for mayor when they consider the programs you will ask the council to implement.

We wish you the very best, Von Dee, in securing their cooperation, and in seeing that the promises that helped get you elected are fulfilled in timely fashion for the benefit of the people you serve.

Sunny day for 62 candidates

The sun shone brightly on Election Day 1985 here, warming the spirits of the 62 victorious candidates. A total of 112 competed for a variety of executive, administrative and legislative offices.

With ten different governmental districts choosing officials for two-, four- and six-year terms, there was no single pattern. But voters showed they are highly receptive to change when they become convinced that officials' past efforts have not been successful.

Women candidates made strong gains, although a few suffered disappointment on Tuesday. An example of how local voters view female applicants is provided by the Granite City park election. Two women were elected; the two men candidates lost.

Not only will there be new mayors in Granite City and Madison but there were many changes in other elective offices. As mayor of Madison, John Bellotti will be aided not only by his long governmental experience but also by the presence of many of his associates in other city offices.

Voters showed strong confidence in Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols and his running mates as well as in Pontoon Beach Village President Glen Wilson and members of his ticket. The same can be said for Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs and his party. Venice Township Supervisor Christ Paschoff and his ticket and Granite City Supervisor Nelson Haghauser.

A major reversal occurred in Chouteau Township, with voters selecting Morris Miles as the new supervisor and also electing all members of his party. The voting turnout never seems to be quite as high as citizens and office-seekers might wish, but there was heavy participation in many neighborhoods. Both the successful and unsuccessful candidates must admit that when the people choose to speak, their voice can be heard clearly. It rang out loudly and effectively on April 2.

Venice faculty get notices

By VALERIE EVDENEN
of the Press-Record

Sixteen teachers in the Venice School District have received notices of honorable dismissal as authorized by the Venice Board of Education.

Faculty members receiving honorable dismissal letters have up to 16 years of experience, Venice Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers explained.

TWELVE of the teachers affected are employed at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center, the adult education-vocational school, which is financed with federal and state funds and administered by the Venice School District.

The remaining four are employed at Venice Grade School, the superintendent said.

"It is with deep regret that you are hereby notified that you have been dismissed from the current school year and will not be re-employed as a teacher in Venice Community Unit District 3," the notice states.

VICKERS said the board of education felt this action was necessary because of the uncertainty of continued federal and/or state funding and the district's financial condition.

"In the event that the federal and state programs in question are funded again, as we have requested, or the district's financial position changes markedly, you are hereby assured that you will be rehired," the teachers were advised.

"WE ARE HOPEFUL that Venice-Lincoln Technical Center and the Chapter I (remedial) program will continue to be fully funded, but if not, we are hopeful that we will continue to receive sufficient funds to operate adequate programs," the Venice superintendent said.

He also expressed hope that the district's general financial picture will improve to the extent that extensive layoffs may not be required.

THE 16 TEACHERS getting honorable dismissal notices this year total the same number as those who received letters prior to the end of the 1983-84 school year.

The administrative staff was directed by the board of education to determine priorities in the event of a percentage cutback, and to notify each teacher as soon as it can be determined if his or her services will be required in the 1985-86 school year, Vickers said.

In action at the March 28 board meeting, David Levy, 210 Hampden Ave., Venice, was appointed to be the Venice Board of Education to complete the unexpired term of Matthew Meehan, who resigned Feb. 28.

IF THE BOARD vacancy had not been filled last week, a decision on the appointment would have reverted to Regional Superintendent Harold E. Briggs.

A 1971 graduate of Venice High School, Levy, 31, is co-partner in Venice Gas and Oil Co. He is married and has two children.

The new board member will serve by appointment until November 1985, when an election will be held to fill the post.

Vickers also announced to the board the Venice School District has experienced a further $1,292,393 decrease in assessed valuation in 1984.

"WE LOST $1,472,381 assessed valuation last year (1983 tax year) so that makes about $2.7 million in two years' time," the administrator said.

In an actual tax dollars the reduced valuation resulted in a decrease of $54,860 in tax money collected in 1984 and a projected loss of $49,318 in this year's tax collection.

The board members also approved holding a donkey basketball game at the Venice schools April 24, sponsored by the Venice Lions Club, with proceeds to be shared by the schools' athletic department.

Election reactions

Visitors to the Granite City Post Office Wednesday afternoon were asked for their reactions to the election results in the Quad-City area. Their comments follow.

Betty Vaughn, Granite City

"We were surprised. We figured with (Mayor) Schuler having two opponents to split up the vote, it would have helped him. Not that we would have been too happy about that."

Joann Hargrove, Nameoki Township

"Great! Wonderful! And it was a landslide. I am an employee of the township and was backing (Supervisor) Harry (Briggs) all the way."

Arthur Spiroff, Granite City

"I think it (the GC mayoral race) turned out good. I think if a person is in for two terms or more, that's enough. I think a change every four or eight years is better."

Ken Ramsey, Granite City

"I think Mac Warfield should have won it. Because, since he's taken over the street department, he's done more for the city than did (former Superintendent of Streets) Landon Forsell. I don't think (Mayor) Schuler's done that much."

Defends Hagnauer's assistance to seniors

To the Editor,

As a past president of AARP Chapter 1340, Granite City, I am amazed and greatly disturbed about the headlines, articles and letters recently published. I feel safe in saying these statements do not reflect the feelings of the majority of senior citizens who participate in the activities and enjoy the facilities at our Granite City Township Building.

While serving as president of AARP, I enjoyed the fullest cooperation of the officials and staff of the Granite City Township, the Granite City Housing Authority, city officials and especially Mayor Schuler. They all have gone far beyond their required duties to offer to our Granite City seniors a program and facilities as good, and, in most cases, far better than other communities.

How in the world do you think we would have the wonderful transportation services if it had not been for the fullest cooperation between the city and Supervisor Hagnauer? Please, let's all be grateful for our programs, take time to express our appreciation, and not try to tear down something that has been so good for the past 10 years.

Gives reassurance on kindergarten plan

To the Editor:

As a kindergarten teacher in the Granite City public school system, I feel obligated to respond to a Forum writer's concerns about the change in the kindergarten entrance requirement as it relates to her son.

You are to be commended for your interest and your concern regarding the education of your son.

You are correct in stating that allowances should be made for those particular children who may not be the right age, but who are developmentally ready for kindergarten.

However, intellectual development is only one of the factors to be considered when a child enters kindergarten. A child's physical and emotional growth are equally as important.

Authorities on child development have found that children who are not yet five by the first of December have a more difficult time coping with formal classroom requirements. They need more time to learn in many other, more appropriate ways.

David Elkind, author of "The Hurried Child," warns parents not to rush their children through childhood. He has found that the results in adolescence may be disastrous.

Our kindergarten program will be different from the one your son is accustomed to in preschool; the sizes of most kindergarten classes are much larger. The physical plant can be very overwhelming for a young child.

I'm sure that his preschool teachers will find ways to keep him interested in learning. Children never stop learning.

I'm sure you have the experience of reading a book; putting it aside; then picking it up again at a later time to find that there were many good things that you had missed in your first reading. His learning will go on no matter where he is.

Our public school curriculum takes into consideration a child's level of intellectual development. Whether he enters school today or a year from now, he will have the best kind of education possible today.

There are many things that parents can do with children at home, using things around the house. If you need some ideas or activities, please let me know. I will be glad to help you in any way that I can.

Reader urges more substantive legislation

To the Editor:

If United States Senator Paul Simon spent as much time trying to represent the needs of the people of Illinois as he does trying to get his name in the media, we, the people of Illinois, would be served well indeed.

Everytime I pick up the newspaper, Simon's public relations campaign has released another story on one of Simon's follies. The latest is Simon's resolution for a halt in testing and deployment of nuclear weapons during the arms control talks between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Anyone with an ounce of understanding can see that his resolution is nothing more than a ploy to hype the media for his own personal spotlighting. Such a resolution is not going to mean anyone to the Russian hierarchy than the many other such efforts by legislative liberals such as Simon.

During his five terms as a United States representative, he introduced hundreds of bills to Congress. However, he averaged less than three or four bills a year which actually made it through the legislative process. When one stops to think about the comparison between bills introduced and bills which were passed, one can see clearly that his track record was greatly less.

If Paul Simon wants to continue to be a senator for Illinois, I suggest that he stop spending so much time on good positive legislation that is going to help the people of Illinois and the United States.

Volunteers save $79 million

More than 50,000 Illinoisans helped the state save nearly $79 million in fiscal year 1984 by donating volunteer efforts to government programs and services.

A report to Governor James R. Thompson, prepared annually by the Governor's Office of Voluntary Action (GOVA), indicates that nearly 12 million volunteer hours were donated last year in almost every area of state government.

While the number of volunteers declined in FY 84, due largely to a change in survey technique, taxpayers saved more than twice as much money from the year before when volunteer efforts worth $34 million were donated.

The numbers in this report represent more than just the bottom line. They represent caring people who are willing to devote time and energy to help children, the elderly, the less fortunate or the disabled, to name just a few segments of our population. The worth of anonymous volunteers in Illinois, while counted each year, is priceless to those they help," the governor said.

"The efforts should not go unrecognized. We owe them a debt of thanks that cannot be adequately repaid."

In FY 84, 52,680 volunteers worked 11,990,807 hours in more than three dozen state departments and agencies. Using $6.50 per hour—a figure used by the National Center for Citizen Involvement—to calculate the amount taxpayers saved, the report says $78,981,349 was saved by using volunteer work in day-to-day programs and services.

Several state agencies greatly benefited from the help of volunteers. The Department of Aging saved more than $72.5 million by using 19,000 volunteers who donated 11 million hours of work by visiting nursing homes and participating in the state's in-home care program.

The Emergency Services and Disaster Agency called on over 5,000 volunteers who worked 166,530 hours during floods and other emergencies, saving $1 million. The Department of Health and Development also saved $1 million using 4,680 volunteers who gave more than 162,000 hours of work at state facilities. Other agencies such as the Departments of Public Aid and Rehabilitation Services were significantly helped by volunteers. "National Volunteer Week is a good time to think about joining the world of volunteers," said GOVA Director Jeane Bradner. "Volunteering offers opportunities to meet new friends, learn new skills and gain new understanding of people and issues."

capacity as superintendent of streets.

Commenting about the closeness of his race with Schuler's — a slim 11-vote edge — Warfield said he would have been "really nervous" if he had finished in first place with that small margin.

SCHULER LEFT his headquarters at about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday to congratulate Cruse. Until nearly that time, Schuler's supporters were optimistic that the mayor would be re-elected.

"The only thing that matters is we didn't get enough votes," Schuler commented just before heading for Cruse headquarters.

Schuler could not be reached for comment Wednesday about the election, or about his future plans, once he is out of office at the end of April.

JELF SAID Wednesday that, despite the small number of votes he received, he had been confident he would win the election.

Valentine said when the final tabulations came in.

"I do want to congratulate my workers. We did all we could."

"Some bad publicity may have hurt us," Valentine said Tuesday night, referring, in part, to quotes in a federal lawsuit instituted by Madison businessman Gerald R. Moss against acting Madison Mayor Thomas Gordon, retired mayor Mike Sasyk and the city's building inspector, John Dutko.

IN A MARCH 14 statement to the Press-Record, Valentine voiced keen disapproval to the inclusion of his name in the $3.3 million lawsuit, which states:

"Mayor Echols is running for mayor of Venice with plaintiff's support and is opposed by Victor Valentine. Valentine is the incumbent candidate of Mike Sasyk," the lawsuit alleged.

Valentine denied the statement in the lawsuit but believes some repercussions from the allegation may have hurt his campaign.

"In the months to come we plan to complete the water slide project, hopefully by the second week in June," said Arnold A. Johnson, who was returned to the Venice Park Board in Tuesday's election. He is president of the board.

Also elected to the board was Anna A. Claggett, who garnered 877 votes in her unopposed bid for a six-year term on the board.

Johnson was unopposed in seeking a two-year term and received 779 votes Tuesday.

"We hope to start construction of the water slide within the next three to four weeks," Johnson said. The slide is to be constructed in Lee Park.

"The summer recreation program for Venice youth will continue as before and plans are being made to expand the winter recreation program with bowling and other indoor activities," Johnson said Wednesday.

"We're looking forward to the next two years and we feel we're going to do better now in working with the city," he added.

Mrs. Claggett, a newcomer to Venice politics, has cited her intention to focus on a beautification program to enhance the appearance of the city while providing summer employment for youth.

She also stressed the need to implement a physical fitness program for adults, among other proposals.

Lawsuit filed over sidewalk maintenance

Doris Nicol has filed a $15,000 lawsuit against the city of Granite City alleging "negligence" in maintaining a sidewalk at the northwest corner of Niedringhaus Avenue and State Street.

The suit, filed in the Third Circuit Court, states that she was injured while walking on the sidewalk on March 25, 1983.

IN THE ALDERMANIC races, incumbents Casmer Skubish, Fred "Pat" Schuman, Sharon Perjes and Jake Varadian were re-elected to office.

"All I can say is — another May and another time. At least I was in my ward and I'm intending to be even stronger," the mayoral candidate stated.

VALENTINE TALLIED 229 votes to Echols' 168 votes in the 11th Precinct, which encompasses most of Venice's 4th Ward. Despite losing to Echols, Valentine remains an alderman of the 4th Ward along with returning Alderman Hayes.

In the 2nd Precinct, Echols amassed 293 votes to Valentine's 98 and in the 4th Precinct, the incumbent got 226 votes to Valentine's 127.

First Ward Alderman John T. Fleig retained his seat by a 72-vote margin over his opponent, Earl W. Hogan, 157 to 85.

An 85-vote win was recorded by 2nd Ward Alderman Hank Svezia, whose opponent, Richard A. King, replace Paul Ray Bowler, who did not seek re-election.

Two of the ward races were "barn-burners," ending in losses for both incumbents.

IN THE 3RD Ward, Brett L. Hanke defeated incumbent Carl Kittel 681 to 627, a narrow 54 votes.

The 6th Ward race was even closer, with Judy Whitaker beating Stephen Saltich, the incumbent, by 35 votes, 867 to 832. Donald Keeling Sr. ran third with 355 votes.

City officials re-elected included City Clerk Bob Stevens and City Treasurer Nick Petrillo.

IN THE GRANITE CITY Township race for assessor, Darlene Laub defeated challengers Fred Painter and Earl Tucker.

Decision expected this week on hiring of city firefighter

Granite City officials expect a decision this week on a lawsuit which has resulted in a two-month delay in the hiring of a city fireman.

According to Irvin C. Slate Jr., a city attorney, the lawsuit resulted after the city council approved the hiring of David Houston, a man who scored the second highest on the fireman's examination. The hiring was made on the recommendation of city fire commissioners.

The man listed first after the testing, John Miller, was passed over by the commissioners because he had not lived in the city for one year prior to his application, according to Slate. The one-year residency requirement is stipulated on the application and is part of a city ordinance.

As a result of the council action, Miller filed for an injunction against the hiring. The lawsuit contests the validity of the residency clause and states that the city waived that clause when Miller was placed first on the list.

It is contended that Miller had lived in the city for five or more months at the time of the application. Since applying, he has remained a resident, bringing his total time of residency past the one-year period mentioned in the regulation.

In the meantime, Houston resigned his position as a teacher with the Riverview Gardens School District effective Feb. 1, so he could accept the city job.

Slate said Associate Judge Charles V. Romani Jr. will decide the case. "Technically, he (Miller) did not conform to the ordinance, but this is something the court will decide," Slate said.

Miller is being represented in the case by Sue Sachtleben, a Collinsville attorney.

Final arguments on the case were heard by Romani last week.

1,217 to 834 votes for Mary Ball. The incumbent ran on the Miles ticket. David Clements was his first bid for public office by defeating Marion "Sparky" Sparks for assessor, 1,217 to 837.

LEE PAVIA captured the tax collector's post, 1,041 to 838 over Michael R. Johnson, the incumbent. Three candidates vied for the highway commissioner's office to fill the post vacated by Wilfred "Bud" Eberhart, who announced in November that he would not seek a third term.

Joseph Stefanoff of the United for Progress ticket won with 869 votes, followed by Dudley Luebbert, an independent candidate who recorded 622 votes, and Elmer Werner of the Honest, Dependable and Qualified slate, 614.

EIGHT CONTENDED for four trustee positions in the township. Winning were Josephine Burgener, an incumbent, 1,170; James V. Spann, 1,200; Robert Lockrone, 1,138, and James Greer, 1,165.

Unsuccessful candidates seeking the office of trustee were: Thomas Johnson, incumbent, 908 votes; Richard Demaree, 688; Lyndall McDaniell, 753, and Melvin Simpson, 732.

Discussing his plans for the township, Miles said, "I am thrilled to death and excited that all of us (candidates of the United for Progress party) got in. The issues spoke for themselves and the people spoke for what they want. We will provide services and I am looking forward to May 2 to get to work."

SUPERVISOR Walter Sparks commented, "The people spoke. We thought we gave our best information on our policies and the way we thought the government should be run. Apparently the public wanted a change from our method of operation. I do thank my friends and supporters who have helped me throughout the years and especially in this election."

In Nameoki, the Township Improvement Party, led by Supervisor Harry Briggs, swept all of the positions.

In addition to Briggs, who received 1,491 votes to Citizens Action Party challenger Helen Hawkins' 1,184, Donald Lee Ridgeway retained the position of clerk, 1,552 to Linda Hedger's 1,051 votes.

FOR ASSESSOR, incumbent Carl Macioti received 1,607 votes, while James Jeffries Sr. tallied 1,038. Stephen Isenburg was elected as tax collector, 1,487 to 1,059 for Billy Bridges. Bridges had promised not to serve if elected, on the contention that a township collector is not needed.

Township Improvement trustee candidates won with the following votes: Norman Hall, 1,411; Kenneth Davis, 1,465; Joseph Garcia, 1,361, and M. Dell Whitsell, 1,261.

CITIZENS ACTION trustee candidates, who were defeated, received the following vote counts: Jerry Adams, 1,181; Jan Langenstein, 909; Leon Ballew, 907, and Randall Atchley, 811.

Independent trustee candidate Jerry Lilley received 700 votes.

In the race for highway commissioner, W. Lee Adams retained his position after being appointed to the vacant post last October. He garnered 1,351 votes to 856 for Charles Reed.

INDEPENDENT candidate

Melba Mehelie, whose husband, Frank, is a former Nameoki Township highway commissioner, received 306 votes.

Briggs commented, "I feel real obligated to the voters of Nameoki Township, where they're with me or against me. We'll still fulfill everything we said we'd do. It may not come this year or next year, but we'll do it."

BRIGGS SAID he plans to continue working on projects begun four years ago. "We've got a lot of projects to get done."

"Financially, (President) Reagan's thinking about cutting off funds, but if the House and Senate go along with us, we'll get our projects done."

"I do believe we're going to make a lot of progress now. We've got a complete board now. We'll have harmony," he concluded.

Meanwhile, Hawkins said her loss doesn't mean she will abandon township politics. "I've always been a fighter. I've lost before. You win some, you lose some."

HER expects to eliminate the position of collector will continue, she added, as will her desire to relieve groundwater flooding in the Arlington Heights subdivision and other areas.

She attributed her loss Tuesday to a lack of funds and organization. "We'll keep gaining power. It takes money, and we just didn't have it. They did. They (the Township Improvement Party) were well organized. They've been organized a good year. We didn't get ours together until Christmas time."

"I never was a quitter yet, and I'm not going to start now. We ran a real good race. This group stuck together. The younger people gave me a good feeling about it (the race). They really did," she said.

WITH VENICE TOWN Supervisor Pashoff gaining an overwhelming victory Tuesday, write-in challenger Vasiloff on Wednesday placed part of the blame for his loss on the write-in system.

"To expect voters to write in on a ballot envelope requires a lot of education. Voters have a lot of fear about messing up a ballot. The method provided for a write should be changed."

All other Good Government Party candidates, who were unopposed, won the offices they were seeking.

Casey Krakowiecki received 1,928 votes for collector. Incumbent William McGarrahan received 1,896 for town clerk, Assessor Margaret Reidelberger totaled 2,133 votes and Eddie Salmond received 2,107 in being re-elected as highway commissioner.

Trustees re-elected were Benjamin Honorable with 2,033 votes, Earl Mosley 2,043, Richard Paterson 1,912 and John Piechocinski, 1,958.

Police warn of group trying to bilk elderly

Granite City police are warning elderly residents of the area that unauthorized persons have been misrepresenting themselves as banking officials in an attempt to bilk senior citizens of their money.

"It's the same old scheme we have seen here before. Someone calls and says he is with the bank and they need information about the person's checking account to help straighten out some problem," Detective Tony Eck explained.

They have used the excuses that there is a computer problem in the bank or that they suspect someone might be embezzling funds and ask the checking account owner to help them, Eck said. Frequently they will call back two or three more times for additional information, such as balance in the checking account, account number or other information, he explained.

Finally, they may ask the person to go to the bank, withdraw all of his or her money and give it to them so it can be reinvested properly.

If they give the money to the phony bank officials, it will never be reinvested and will be lost forever, Eck warned.

His advice for anyone who receives a suspicious call from anyone wanting information about their bank account is to get a phone number where they can call the person back and then call the police department at 877-6111.

Cahokia, Hillsboro walk by Warrior hurlers

By JOE THOMPSON
of the Press-Record

Their opponents were Cahokia and Hillsboro. The Granite City High baseball Warriors' deadliest foe, however, ended up being the one in the mirror.

The Warriors issued 22 bases on balls — 11 in each contest — and committed some defensive gaffes as they dropped both games. The Warriors fell to Cahokia, 13-8 Monday here, and 7-5 to Hillsboro at Hillsboro Tuesday.

The streak of wildness is mystifying. In the Warriors' four previous games — all victories — they gave up just FIVE bases on balls.

"DON'T ASK me why," Warrior coach Bob Stegemeier said of the unwanted outbreak of ball-four hits. "I don't know why."

He is sure of one thing. "Pitching and defense. That's the two spots right now," he said.

The two non-conference setbacks dropped the Warriors to 4-2.

The Warriors' defensive lapses were especially costly Tuesday. They committed three errors enabling Hillsboro to score five unearned runs.

What carried over from the Warriors' first four game successes, however, was their potent hitting.

"I think it's concentration. That's my feeling on it. Maybe we're trying too hard. It's something we will work on. I know that."

Bob Stegemeier
Warrior baseball coach

Their bats cracked with 13 hits in the two games. It was almost enough to remain unbeaten.

THE WARRIORS rallied vigorously in the seventh inning against Hillsboro, scoring two runs on a booming double by Randy Burgess, who had homered two innings earlier. Shane Cole doubled to set up the two runs.

The Warriors would have scored more but for a pair of splendid plays by Hillsboro.

Earlier in the inning, Kurt Hylla laced a screaming drive which the center fielder hauled in at knee top level. Pat Cathey, the next batter, ripped a shot into right center field where it was caught in a sprawling grab.

"If, if, if. That doesn't win games," Stegemeier lamented.

AGAINST the Comanches, the Warriors trailed 11-3 in the fifth frame before busting loose with five runs.

A triple by Hylla and a double by Cole were the big blows. John Konkovich also singled in a run.

The Warriors dug themselves a big hole walking eight batters in the first frame. The Comanches capitalized scoring seven runs.

The Warriors' fifth inning rally was the closest they got.

Season Opener

Trojans lose shortened game

By GREGG OCHOA
of the Press-Record

DUPO. Madison Coach Ron Crader hopes first impressions aren't lasting.

The Trojans' season-opening baseball game saw the Madison hurlers surrender 13 hits, issue six walks and commit three errors. The result was a 15-1 loss to Dupu Tuesday in a game shortened by the 10-run five-inning rule.

As far as game experience, Madison is about a week behind most area teams. And, the lack of playing time was apparent, especially in the first inning when Dupu scored nine times.

"We just weren't sharp at all," Crader said. "All those first-inning runs were litters, I guess."

MADISON had a game scheduled with East St. Louis was back on March 21, but it was rained out. So, the Trojans were getting their first taste of baseball.

Dupo, on the other hand, had already played seven games and were 3-4 going in.

The Tigers were quick to pounce, and took advantage of Madison pitcher Nathan Young.

With one out, Dupu scored five quick runs. The big blows of the inning were RBI triples off the bat of Jeff Plunkett and Jeff Snider.

In all, the Tigers batted out seven hits and sent 15 batters to the plate before Harold Kunkel ended the inning as it began — with a strikeout.

TO YOUNG's credit, he was victimized by his own defense on at least two occasions.

On one play, second baseman Darnell Marshall broke the wrong way on a bunt hit to the middle, allowing two runs to score. Another hit just sliced past the glove of third baseman Andre Cooper. The ball rolled into left field for a triple, scoring two more runs.

"If we make those plays we get out of the inning with not as many runs scored," Crader said.

Marshall, however, made up for his play in the second inning when he robbed the Dupu counterpart, Rich Barcum, with a diving stop to his left. It was the best defensive play of the game.

WHILE the Trojans' defense was fairly stable, Madison's Achilles' heel was its hitting.

"Hitting's the name of the game," Crader said. "We just couldn't hit the curve ball. It's something that I was aware of and we are just going to have to keep working on it."

Dupo's Danny Howell pitched all five innings and limited Madison to just one hit, an infield grounder by Marshall which the shortstop knocked down but couldn't make a throw.

Madison's only run was unearned. In the second, Young walked, stole second and went to third a bad throw. Cooper drew a walk, then executed a double steal as Young raced home. Young was safe, but Cooper was thrown out by catcher Mark Stanberry.

Leftfielder Patrick Glasper kept the inning alive when Howell lost a fly ball in the sun and then threw wildly to first.

With Glasper on second, he wisely tried to steal third and was gunned down by Stanberry ending the inning.

GLASPER and Stanberry, who was 4-for-4 with three RBIs, clashed again in the fifth inning. Glasper reached on a walk and tried to steal another run.

The Trojan runner actually beat the throw from Plunkett and caused the ball to pop out of Stanberry's mit. Glasper, however, was called out for running out of the baseline and subsequently ejected for ramming the Dupu catcher.

"That play was handled wrong,"

Crader said. "I heard no indication from the umpire or no signal until after I talked with him. However, he made the right call. Our players know's better than to go into another player like that. When you do that, you get in trouble."

THE TROJANS stranded two more runners before the inning ended. In all, Madison left six runners on base and had three more — two at third — cut down on the basespaths.

Dupo plated five runs in the fourth inning and just three hits, two of the runs scored on a throwing error and a third scored on a wild pitch. In addition, there were four walks.

In the inning, Madison used two pitchers. Lamont Silas and Ulisses Williams.

"They are both hard throwers," Crader said, "but they just lack the experience. That's one of our problems."

Dupo evened its record to 4-4 while Madison is 0-1.

"I GUESS like this you use as a stepping stone," said Crader whose team is looking to better last year's 4-11 season.

"I look for better things," said the optimistic coach. "I really feel we have better talent." Madison returns three starters catcher John Browley, Marshall and Young.

Glasper saw consider action last year, also. Crader who teaches English at both Madison and Venice will lead the Trojans against the Red Devils Monday, April 8, at 4 p.m. The game is in Venice.

Stegemeier was angered by the Warriors' effort against the Comanches, who had entered the contest 0-4.

THE LOSS to Hillsboro and the continued streak of wildness left him in a more philosophical bent.

"I think it's concentration. That's my feeling on it," said Stegemeier. "Maybe we're trying too hard. It's something we will work on. I know that."

With the Warriors opening Southwestern Conference play in a 4 p.m. contest today against Belleville East in Belleville, the hurlers must get back on target.

"In order for us to be good, we'll have to have good pitching," said Stegemeier.

IT WAS with an eye toward deepening the pitching ranks that Stegemeier gave Hylla the starting assignment against Cahokia.

A senior, Hylla had not pitched before in varsity competition.

Hylla, throwing hard into a chilly, gusty wind, gave up a lead-off single to Ed Luedeman, then walked the next two batters. The pivotal test for Hylla and, perhaps, the key moment for the Warriors was Hylla's battle against Cahokia's next batter, cleanup hitter Chris Egner.

Hylla got Egner into a two-strike situation and strove to go for the strikeout with the game still scoreless. Egner, though, nudged Hylla's fastball into short right field, just inside the foul line. The "chink" hit scored two runs.

HYLLA relaxed the bases, walking the next two hitters. At this point, he was relieved by Tim Gray.

"We wanted to see if Kurt could throw strikes," said Stegemeier, who noted he hasn't given up on the hard-throwing right-hander as a hurler. "He threw the ball hard. Nobody touched him."

Gray did not have much better success. Cahokia's Andrew Rhodes greeted him with a solid single to center.

Two more runs scored. When the ball skipped under center fielder Cole's legs, the remaining Comanche runners cleared the bases.

AT THIS point, the Warriors got a break. Johnnell Marks stumbled and missed third base. He continued running, but was called out. It was Cahokia's first out of the inning.

Rhodes and Billy Luther added to the lead with solo home runs off Jeff Zukas in the fourth and fifth innings.

When the Warriors threatened with five runs in the fifth inning, the Comanches rallied for two runs in the sixth. A double by Marks and a triple by Jim Jones sandwiched around an infield error by Davis led to the insurance runs.

The Warriors' attack rumbled to a start in the first inning. Burgess doubled home Davis who had walked and stolen second base.

BURGESS, in turn, scored on the first of two run-scoring singles by Konkovich — the second coming in the Warriors' fifth inning roust.

Tom Warfield was the starting hurler against Hillsboro. Like Hylla, Warfield also ran into first inning troubles. A two-out error by Burgess led to three unearned first inning runs.

Warfield also had trouble finding the strike zone. He walked seven batters in the three innings he tolled.

Tim Stanton and Darin Spalding followed him to the mound.

Hillsboro scored two more unearned runs in the fifth. An error by shortstop Greg Ehlers was the big play.

BURGESS wasn't alone in the heroic hitting department with his three RBI via his home run, double and single.

Jim Chomko doubled in one run. Nifty running by Konkovich and Ehlers led to two more runs during the three run second inning. Konkovich, who walked twice, and Ehlers scored runs after a misplay by Hillsboro.

Konkovich singled and Ehlers walked to reach base. The two then, successfully pulled off a double steal, putting themselves into scoring position.

Then came the almost-but-not-quite seventh inning winning rally...

STEGEMEIER espouses positive thinking. The Warrior lineup will likely be boosted with the return soon of heavy-hitting second baseman Dennis Geardreault.

Also expected to join the team in the near future are hurlers Allen Zentgraf and Mark Bowen. All were injured.

If the pitching staff can get back to throwing strikes, the Warriors will likely see a friend and not a foe the next time they look into the mirror.

"You can't give up 11 walks," said Stegemeier.

Althoff downs Warrior girls

By JAMES BLASINGAME
of the Press-Record

BELLEVILLE. The Granite City High School girls' softball team dropped a 5-1 decision to Belleville Tuesday last night, as the Warriors' record fell to 0-2 on the young season.

But don't get the wrong idea. Granite City isn't off to a bad start. It has just faced solid competition from two outstanding squads.

"We've played probably two of the best teams in the area in Bethalto and Althoff," said Warrior head coach Jim Davis. "And we're going to get better because of it."

AGAINST the Crusaders, Granite City was into the bottom of the fifth in a 1-1 deadlock. But Althoff erupted for four runs in that inning to blow open a tight contest.

"Our girls played extremely well," Davis said. "We fielded the ball. We really can't play much better than that. We only had one strikeout, so at least we're making good contact."

The Warriors' lone run came in the top of the first when Leigh Ann Panning singled home Karen Sykes to give Granite City the lead at 1-0.

Althoff scored once in the fourth frame before its four-run fifth.

"I THINK our pitcher (senior Michelle Morgan) gave up two walks at most. She pitched awfully well," said the Warrior coach.

If we keep putting the bat on the ball and keep playing hard, things are going to happen for this team. I look for a few victories to be coming our way pretty soon."

The Warriors will try to pick up their first win, as Granite City plays host to Mascoutah today. Game time is 6 p.m.

At Tri-City Speedway

Tickets available for 'Outlaws'

GRANITE CITY — Ron Shuman of Mesa, Ariz., has many reasons to look forward to the World of Outlaws Shootout sprint car program at Tri-City Speedway April 5 and 6.

Shuman will be hoping that the second annual Easter extravaganza will be a profitable venture since he will be doubling as a driver and also the event's promoter. Shuman has $46,725 in pocketed awards up for grabs over the two nights of competition with $2,000 set aside for Friday night's preliminary feature winner and $7,000 plus contingencies ready to fill Saturday night's feature winner's pockets.

Shuman's first promotion at Tri-City was thrilling in different ways. He was barely nosed out by Sammy Swindell, of Bartlett, Tenn., for the feature victory. Shuman also was a winner as a promoter with the grandstand full for the program.

Shuman will be back in competition in the familiar orange colors of the Tulsa, Okla., car owner Lloyd Stephens and the Oklahoma Picture Company. Shuman is residing in the top 10 in two different promoters' point standings.

Swindell will return seeking his second Outlaw triumph. Also scheduled to compete will be five-time and defending World of Outlaws titlist Steve Kinser of Bloomington, Ind.

Both Kinser and Swindell were selected to the elite Skool All-American Racing Team, a select 11-member group of the nation's top auto racing stars as voted on for their 1984 performances. Bobby Davis Jr. of Memphis, Tenn., will lead the "Memphis Bunch" crowd that will also include Jeff Swindell, Terry Gray and Rick Ungar. Other top touring World of Outlaws stars expected include Bobby Allen of Hanover, Penn., Jack Hewitt of Troy, Ohio, Danny Smith of Danville, Ind., Brad Doty of Fredricksburg, Ohio, Dave Haney of Hartford, Ohio, Tim Green of Sacramento, Calif., Mark Kinser, Ooltie, Ind., T. J. Giddings, Kansas City, Kan., Rocky Hodges, Des Moines, Iowa, and Oklahoma City's Greg Woolley and Shane Carson.

Full programs of time trials, heat races and features will be presented both evenings. Advance tickets will be on sale at the track. For more information, persons should call 831-3607.

OUTLAWED! Ron Shuman is both a racer and the promoter for this weekend's World of Outlaws show at Tri-City Speedway. The event, which begins Friday and continues Saturday, kicks off the local speedway's 1985 season. Tickets for the two-day event are available at the speedway.

Beat Cahokia Netters now 1-2

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Not many coaches can find a reason for optimism in a shutout — the silver lining to a thunderhead — but that's the way Granite City High School tennis coach Dick Harmon viewed his team's 7-0 loss to Belleville East Tuesday.

Making their home debut with a 1-0 season record, Harmon's Warriors battled perennially tough Lancers only to lose all seven pairings.

The day before, Monday, in their rain-delayed season opener in Cahokia, the "inexperienced" Warriors bettered the Comanches 4-3. Then on Wednesday, the Warriors lost to McCluer (St. Louis), 5-2, a Missouri powerhouse and former state champion.

"THEY'RE so tough," Harmon began, assessing both Belleville East and McCluer. "It's the same thing every year. Their kids play tennis in the winter — indoors. To be good you've got to play all season long. We've got some good kids, but few, very few play indoors. But, it's early. We'll shape up. We'll play them together the second go around," Harmon said.

While snow and sub-freezing weather makes pre-season outdoor play nearly impossible from December to March, the Lancers and the Comets find their way to respective indoor facilities. The Lancers visit nearby Oak Hill Racquet Club while many of the Comets frequent West James Courts in North St. Louis County.

IT'S THESE winter sessions which enable both the Lancers and the Comets to be in mid-season form by their season opener.

But not only are the Bellevilles and the McCluers making good on indoor, pre-season play. At least one of the Warriors' backcourt players gathered dust during the winter. First singles player Rob Lombardi knows the importance of playing the year through.

"I've played four times a week during the winter," Lombardi said after he and his teammate David Aerne lost their first doubles match to East's Joe Marinelli and K. C. Brechnitz. "I've been playing indoors, at Oak Hill."

Granite City
Warriors

ALTHOUGH Lombardi may not yet be in peak, mid-season form, his serve-and-volley play gave Marinelli all he could handle in their first singles and later in the doubles match. In addition to losing to Marinelli in the doubles matchup, the Lancers' three-year starter also battered Lombardi 6-5, 6-3 in singles play.

"I feel like I can beat him," Lombardi said. "We went into a lot of several deuce games. I'll get another chance."

Of all the Warriors, it was Lombardi and Aerne who came the closest to beating the Lancers. In first doubles, the Warrior duo were the only ones to force the Lancers into a third set, losing 3-6, 4-1, 6-4.

THE BEST of the Warriors dropped straight sets to their Lancer counterparts. Aerne dropped his second singles match to Brechnitz 6-1, 6-2 while teammates Jerry Laken and Chris Chenevert each lost in straight sets 6-2 and 6-4.

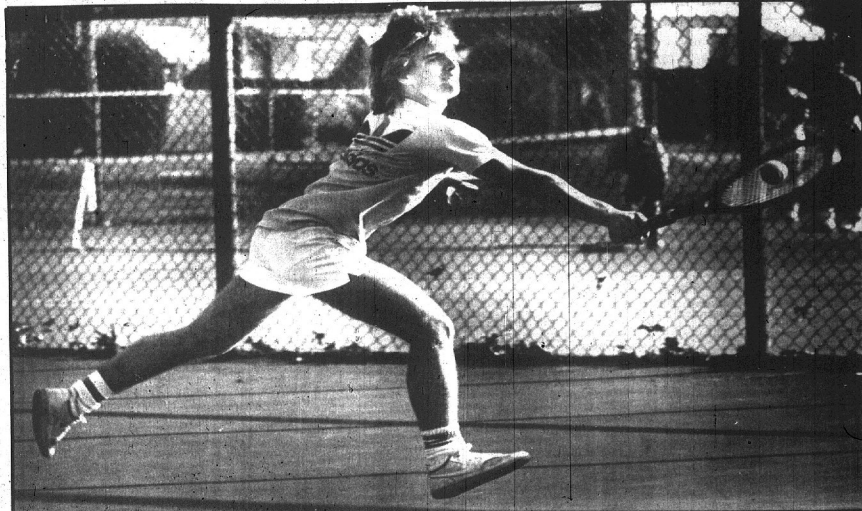

In second doubles, Laken and Chenevert didn't have any easier parts. Aerne dropped his second doubles match to Brechnitz and Bob Farmer 6-3, 7-5.

Then in third doubles, Chris Holland and Dave Menendez fell to East's Jeff Littlejohn and Sven Klaus 0-6, 2-6.

"They don't have a bad team," said East's Coach Mike Thompson of Granite City. "They've got some good kids, especially Lombardi, but my guys play an awful lot of tennis. We're pretty tough to beat."

COMING INTO Tuesday's matchup, someone did, beat the Lancers, though, namely DeMet of St. Louis. The Spartans handed the Lancers a 5-2 setback in their first outing this season. Now at 2-1, the Lancers' seven victories came against St. Louis University High School, a 9-0 shutout.

Now with two of their most formidable opponents out of the way, the Warriors will have until Monday to prepare themselves for the Tigers' 4 p.m. game in Edwardsville.

BACKHAND STRETCH. Rob Lombardi, Granite City High School's first singles tennis player, reaches to return this backhand shot from Belleville East's Joe Marinelli during Tuesday's conference tennis match at Granite City High School. Lombardi lost the match to Marinelli as did the rest of his teammates. East swept the matchup 7-0.

National Champions Not villains, Villanova is the wearer of white hats

No one could have predicted it and those who didn't see it are still having a problem believing it. If, of course, was Villanova's 66-64 upset win over defending NCAA basketball champion Georgetown Monday night.

What a ball game! Rolie Massimino's Wildcats were superb in slaying these giants called Georgetown. It was more than a David and Goliath story. Although the Wildcats' shooting proved as lethal as David's slingshot. It was more than the little guy beating up the neighborhood bully. It was more than...

More than anything I expected. Like the rest of the world (except maybe Massimino and his Wildcats), I didn't think Villanova stood a snowball's chance in hell of beating Georgetown. In fact, a headline a Lexington, Ky., newspaper reporting the game read: Snowball 1, Hell 0.

In all honesty, had it not been a national championship game, I probably wouldn't have watched it. "Surely, I couldn't have been any better than the Georgetown vs. St. John's semi-final game," I thought.

Shortly after the game began Georgetown wasted little time in taking its more-than-predictable lead. Up by four, five and then six, the Hoyas, it seemed, threatened to blow the game wide open.

"Here we go," I thought. "Another hyped up national championship that's gonna be a blowout."

Not so! Just about the same time those thoughts materialized, the Wildcats began to whittle away at the Hoyas' lead.

Sitting on my couch with my favorite beverage in hand, I remember saying to my wife in the kitchen, who could've cared less about the game, "They're blowing it. Georgetown's blowing it. Pick up the tempo. Throw the ball up to (Patrick) Ewing. Alley-oop them (Villanova) to death."

Okay, I admit it. I was for Georgetown. I wanted them to win and thought they would.

They were the "just" one. And they prevailed. But they weren't the only winners. Everyone who watched the game was a winner.

Thanks Rolie. Thanks Wildcats. Thanks for a very exciting ball game.

Sports on the Run

By Al Gerstenecker

Georgetown's play. Right before the first half ended, Georgetown's Reggie Williams chucked Villanova's Chuck Everson under the Hoyas' basket. From what I saw, it looked like it was clearly a flagrant foul.

Then, near the end of the game, Georgetown's Horace Broadnax kneed Villanova's Harold Pressley in the groin.

Sure, it may attributed to frustration — Georgetown's inability to catch Villanova — but it was a very poor display of sportsmanship.

By now the game had taken on a different look. Not only one of underdogs vs. favorites, but one of good guys vs. bad guys. Villanova was clearly not the villains on this night, Georgetown was.

The Wildcats, who set an NCAA championship game record with their 78 percentage from the field, couldn't miss. On this night, they could've thread a needle at 20 feet.

They were the "just" one. And they prevailed. But they weren't the only winners. Everyone who watched the game was a winner.

Thanks Rolie. Thanks Wildcats. Thanks for a very exciting ball game.

Rickey, Hubbell, Dean:
double-header makers

BY AL BARNES

for the Press-Record

The Cardinals' late Branch Rickey didn't invent the double-header, but his vast and soaring imagination in the midst of the Great Depression moved him to take steps which helped keep the St. Louis National League entry financially alive.

Rickey not only used the twinnings to build attendance, but he was the first to see the advantage of scheduling double-headers on Sundays, and, of course, the Fourth of July or any other national holiday.

And, I think it was Rickey who came up with the brilliant idea of splitting holidays — playing one single game in the morning and the other in the afternoon. Of course, the double-header as an attendance pusher-upper was even more important before the advent of night baseball (under the lights).

It wasn't long before others in baseball followed his lead in scheduling double-headers. Of course his other major contribution to baseball was the development of the minor league system.

But, while Rickey was pushing the twinnings to fill his bleacher seats and the higher priced ones, he was likewise the first to see the great opportunity to sell tickets when two outstanding and famous pitchers were slated to meet in a mound-duel.

Probably his promotional masterpiece was his staging of the famous hurling duels between his (the Cardinals') Paul Hahn (Dizzy) Dean and the Giants' brilliant lefthander, Carl Owen (King Carl) Hubbell, in 1930 and won his only start that year.

The Great Dizzy was born in Lucas, Ark., the same year (1911) as he. He came up to the Cardinals in 1930 and won his only start that year, and Dean never did forgive him for it, sent the Great One down back to the minors in 1931. He came up to stay and write baseball history in 1932.

Dean and Hubbell met head-on in mound duels a grand total of 10 glorious times.

I personally saw at least five of those marvelous pitching shootouts between the two hurlers. Dean never won a single one of them much.

to my chagrin and financial loss because I bet heavily for those days, a huge $5. I was making a grand total of $12 per week with a wife and a son to take care of.

The old and hallowed Sportsman Park out on Grand Avenue at Dodier only seated a little better than 31,000 in those days.

But, when Hubbell and Dean pitched, Rickey sold another 20,000 more tickets (strictly standing-room-only) and packed them in the outfield and roped them back as close to the stands as possible.

Talk about the fans getting into the game — they really did.

A ball batted into the crowd was an automatic double. And, it was surprising, even amazing, that the home rarely if ever interferring with the play of the ball.

Dean won the first two crowd meetings, beating King Carl 4-2 in their initial test in 1932. The Great One, after a lapse of the series of one year (1934), again defeated Hubbell, 9-5. That was, of course, the start of the legendary Gas House Cardinals.

Hubbell finally hung in on Dean in mid-July of 1935, 4-2, but it was at this point that Rickey finally began to promote the duels in a big way.

So, Sept. 15, 1935, Dean came right back and defeated King Carl, 5-2. Three days later, the Giants called again on Hubbell to go against Dean and he beat him 7-3, but it didn't help the New Yorkers' to catch the Chicago Cubs for the pennant. The Cubs lost in four to the Yankees.

My most vivid memory of the series was a mid-July face-off in St. Louis on a Sunday afternoon. I had brought my father-in-law, William McNally, to his first major league game while my wife and her sister took in the St. Louis Zoo.

All through the game, Mac kept after me, "Alvin, why don't they make those men sit down. I can't see the game." He was referring to the beer peddlers. Dean was 150-73 in his career; Hubbell's record was 253-154.

Applications are now being accepted for the 1985 Prairie State Games, the state's amateur sports festival patterned after the Olympics.

The 1985 Games will feature 15 events. Athletes will compete in scholastic and open divisions, according to age.

Regional winners will advance to the finals, scheduled for July 17-21 at the University of Illinois in Champaign.

Application fee is $10 and the registration deadline is May 13. For more information persons should write to the Prairie State Games, 160 N. LaSalle, Suite 2000, Chicago 60601, or call (312) 793-4400 or 1-800-THP-GAME.

Competition is still registering new players and teams for its coming spring seasons.

Parents with children — both boys and girls — wishing to play in a spring league should call the QCSA information center at 877-1252 or send a copy of the child's birth certificate to QCSA, P.O. Box 624, Granite City, Illinois 62040.

Delta Kappa Gamma studies endangered animals

At the annual brunch meeting of the three local chapters of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, a society for key women teachers, Roger Birkel spoke about "Animals Endangered."

A slide presentation showed animals which are rapidly disappearing. Among the endangered animals shown were the cheetah, which will be extinct within 25 years if not helped.

The lemur, found only in Madagascar, may be extinct in the next 25 years due to the rapidly disappearing rain forests. Birkel said there are perhaps more lemurs in captivity than in the wild.

The tapir and the orangutan from the jungles of Asia are rare due to the fact that rain forests in Asia are being sold off and many animals have no home.

Birkel, St. Louis Zoo curator, said that zoo is one of the few free zoos in the United States. It emphasizes caring for the animals and displaying them in their own habitat. The old lion house built in 1910 has been demolished and replaced by "Big Cat Country."

The primate house, reptile house and bird house were remodeled. The primate house now has 14 displays, creating larger environments for the animals and separating them from visitors by glass instead of bars. The bird house uses piano wire to protect the birds, letting visitors see the birds in natural habitats.

Interspersed are graphic displays explaining the animals' role. The St. Louis Zoo is a member of the International Species Inventory System, based in Minnesota, which keeps computer information on all animals in captivity, their sire, mother, medical information, care, etc.

The zoo also stresses animal reproduction, to maintain one of the finest animal collections in the world. It also is working on artificial reproduction. The zoo owns the first antelope in captivity to have a baby by artificial insemination. This was a gazelle from Ethiopia, now only found in captivity.

The members were told that on June 1 the St. Louis Zoo will have a koola on loan for one month from the San Diego Zoo. Since it only eats a certain kind of eucalyptus leaf, it cannot be housed permanently in St. Louis.

The new ape house will be finished by the end of this year. The apes are on loan to other zoos until the ape house is finished. Birkel said the goal of the zoo is to always have a wild animal population and to educate and stimulate the public to help with wildlife conservation.

The Downstators, a chorus of Alpha Eta, Beta Eta and Gamma Epsilon members, accompanied by Valerie Stevens, sang "In the Time of Roses" and "Like a Father." Ila Lowery sang "I Believe in Delta Kappa Gamma" to note the 50th anniversary of Lambda Delta (Illinois).

They will perform this music at the state convention at Chicago April 19-21. Chapter presidents Elizabeth Briggs of Alpha Eta, Diane Funkhouser of Beta Eta and Mary Davis of Gamma Epsilon made announcements.

Members attending from this area were:

Alpha Eta Chapter: Elizabeth Briggs, Agnes Fryntko, Leigh Heller, Cynthia Hornell, Lucinda Huck, Elsie Mayhugh, Linda McDonnell, Dorothy Mitchell, Pat Moore, Selma Nelson, Judy Reidelberger, Louise Dexheimer and Mary Brooks.

Beta Eta Chapter: Mary Sue Harper, Nancy Rainer and Valerie Stevens.

Director Quilligan informed the board of a letter from the United Way explaining how the agency was evaluated by the Budget and Allocation Committee for 1985. The 1985 revised budget was presented and discussed.

The annual statistical report ending in 1984 noted 1,364 clients were served, with total services of 4,189. This included long-term family cases, short-term family cases, unwed parent cases, adoptive home cases, foster homes and child welfare cases.

Mary Beardslee, social worker, reported that Catholic Charities has started Inter-County Adoption Service. Travelers and Immigrants Aid of Chicago will help families find children and Catholic Charities will do home study. To date, five couples have been referred for foreign adoptions.

Officers elected to serve for 1985-86 were Casimir Krakawiecki, president; Herbert Reisinger, vice president; and Alex Schenhofer, treasurer.

The nominating committee presented names to serve on the board of directors for a three-year term. Elected were William McGarran, Mrs. Mary Ann Jens and Mrs. Patricia Hewlett. The Rev. John Q. ## Woman recovers $410, displays heroic actions

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff Writer

When two youths took a bank bag containing $500 in cash this weekend from the Colonial Thrift Store, 3675 Nameoki Road, Georgiann Gaddy wasted no time.

"It just seemed like something in my mind told me something was very wrong," she said.

The 28-year-old part-time clerk ran back to the desk where the store money was kept and confirmed her suspicions that something was amiss.

"I told my manager (Sandy Pille) to throw me my car keys — I was going after them," said Gaddy. "I had only one thing in mind and that was to get that money back."

Running out to her car, she pursued the pair to the Terrace Lane area, while her manager put in a call to the police. "I followed them down to the drainage ditch area of Terrace Lane (about ten blocks) and I thought I lost them for a minute, so I pulled up a couple of blocks and waited for them," Gaddy said.

When she spotted them, the mother of three children jumped from her vehicle and gave pursuit on foot. "I was yelling at them the whole time to drop the money," she said. "I wasn't scared. I think they were more scared of me than I was of them."

After she had chased them about half a block, she said, one of the boys turned around and threw a wad of money at her. "It wasn't until later, when we added up the receipts, that I realized they had thrown $410 at me," the clerk said.

When she started back to her car, she saw a patrol car that had been summoned to the scene, and flagged down the officer. She told police that she last saw the two crossing Pontoon Road at Primrose Avenue.

Police were unable to locate the two youths.

In an interview Monday, Gaddy said she was a bit surprised by her actions. "I couldn't believe I did something like that," she said, adding that several co-workers were ribbing her about her accomplishment, calling her "Wonder Woman."

She said her husband, Vincent, also was joining in the fun, since she was complaining about how sore her legs were from the chase. "We held on if it wasn't for out of shape, I wouldn't feel so bad," she said laughing.

Gaddy said her boss's reaction to the whole episode was one of concern. "She was worried about me," the clerk said. "After she called the police, she was trying to find me — I guess she was afraid I had been hurt."

The worker said she was waiting on a customer at the time of the incident. The other boy apparently kept her boss occupied while the second youth pretended to be looking for a quarter he had dropped on the floor.

The youth, pretending to have dropped the money, apparently went to the desk, which was not in a secured area. According to Gaddy, that desk was partitioned off by food racks.

She has been employed at the thrift store for six years.

Probation, fine ordered for cannabis delivery

A guilty plea to a charge of unlawful delivery of cannabis has led to two and a half years probation for a Venice man. Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill also has ordered Robert Horn, 33, of 217 Hampden Ave., Venice, to pay a $200 fine, $20 in special costs and $85 court costs. He pleaded guilty to the charge Feb. 25 and sentencing followed.

Horn and Dorothy Kearns, 31, also of the 200 block of Hampden Avenue, were charged July 2, 1984, after their arrest by the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation, which assisted Venice police.

Cannabis charge nets prison term

Jeffrey Wells, 21, of 1907 Fourth St., Madison, has been ordered to serve 18 months in prison and pay a $700 fine and $90 in court costs for his guilty plea Feb. 12 on a possession of cannabis charge. He was charged by Madison County Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick. Wells had been charged on Nov. 29.

WITH GOD ALL THINGS ARE POSSIBLE.

We are usually skeptical of miracles. Even those of divine healing which can be documented. We seem to have to understand how God does what he does.

1. Counseling a sort of people with all sorts of problems has caused me to discern that many people have hard feelings toward God. This naturally sets a barrier between them. We feel guilty because we do not accept everything that comes our way as being from God. And we should not accept everything! God will talk to his people if they will listen. His sheep know HIS voice. God will let you know what He is doing if you ask Him to.

Do these three things for God's power in your life:

1. Trust Him. He knows what he is doing.

2. Talk to Him. Tell Him you don't understand.

3. Praise Him. Be thankful in all things and delight yourself in Him.

Start today.
